Grand Closing Out Sale

Open Evenings

Ozaki begs to announce that he has concluded to close out his entire stock at his Hotel Street Store, at private sale, and shall offer the goods at very greatly reduced prices, AS A GENUINE CLOSING OUT SALE OF HIS RETAIL DEPARTMENT.

It is unnecessary to expatiate on the quality or value of his goods, for he can say without fear of contradiction from any person, that he has the finest assortment of Japanese goods in the Islands, and begs to draw special attention to the assortment of the following lines:

Silk goods in great variety, Shirts, Underwear, Shawls, Kimonos, Tea Gowns, Smoking Jackets, Doilies, Genuine Satsuma Ware, Vases, Urns, Plates, Cups and Saucers, Lacquer Ware, Trays, Stands, Boxes, Cabinets, Cloisonne Ware in great variety, Grass Linen Table Cloths and Center Pieces.

The collections of Bric-a-brac in Ivory, Bronze and Old Porcelain are such as to compare with those offered for sale in the larger cities of the United States, and at much lower prices, giving the collectors and connoisseurs an opportunity to complete their collections, at prices never before offered to the public of Honolulu.

FOR HOME REFINERY

Mr. Lewis Comes Back to His Idea.

Hawaii Should Retain the Profits for Itself.

Conviction That the Hawaiian Planters Are Strong Enough to Help Themselves.

Edgar L. Lewis, who on his return from a long stay on the mainland recently gave the Advertiser his views in favor of a local sugar refinery, has lost none of his enthusiasm for the idea from his discussions with business men here on the subject. Yesterday evening, to an Advertiser reporter, he further canvassed the matter in the following strain:

"As we are the growers here of the raw material, there is no reason in the world why we should not be the manufacturers of the finished article, as the manufacturing is the part in which the profit consists.

"By making these contracts with the Trust we have lost yearly, say, from eight to twelve million dollars by which the Trust people are the corresponding gainers.

"Refining our raw sugars at home would mean prosperity to these Islands—that is, it would give us the profits that today the Trust is getting. It would improve times materially, as it would keep at home those vast returns from refining. Mostly all of our existing plantations would realize handsome returns from the joint enterprise. The profits would be distributed amongst us here. Our hotels would fill up, for prosperity attracts people, and the stores today empty would be occupied.

"If you can show the large sugar agencies here that the venture would make them better off all round, they would surely join in the movement as they have the general welfare of the country at heart. They are as a rule level-headed business men and if you can show them that refining their own sugars would be more profitable to them than is their sale raw they would certainly accept the proposition.

"In the past the agents would have had us believe that if they did not contract to the Trust to take their raw material they could not otherwise dispose of it. They must break away from this idea, as it is not only a chance about selling the refined output, but a certainty on account of which they need have no fear. Since returning I have had a number of interviews with local business men, which have convinced me that this is the time for active and united effort on the part of all the plantations whereby in the near future we should handle our own sugars.

"I believe we could give more effective opposition to the Trust than Spreckels at one time or another feigned to attempt. Cane sugar will always have a demand of its own, irrespective of the quantity of beet sugar wherever produced. At present we have not the benefit of this demand because our sugars are mixed with the beet product in the Trust refineries. With cane sugar direct from the Hawaiian refinery there would be no question of its genuineness.

"Sugar is as staple an article as flour and yet we are sitting back here doing nothing to help ourselves with markets east and west, north and south, inviting all the refined sugar we can supply."

THREEFOLD CATALOGUE

Laid Before Governor By Superintendent Cooper.

Superintendent Cooper submitted to the Governor in council yesterday a report from the Board of Agriculture and Forestry. It mentioned the employment of Professors A. Koehle and R. C. L. Perkins as entomologist and chief assistant respectively, with Professors Kirkaldy and Terry of London as their respective assistants. The report of Prof. Perkins on the leaf hopper, just handed in, is to be published as an official bulletin by the Board.

Regarding the St. Louis Exposition Mr. Cooper reported that W. W. Harris had charge of the forestry exhibit, Professor J. E. Higgins of the agricultural exhibit and Professor Shorey of the preserving work. F. L. Winter had been asked to get up a fibre exhibit. Mr. McGuire was attending to the collection of articles relating to ancient Hawaii.

Superintendent Cooper also had business from the Public Works Department before the Executive Council. Approval was given a request to Land Commissioner Boyd to turn over land required for the site of the new McGregor's Landing on Maui.

The proposal for an exchange of public lands at Kaipapau, Oahu, for land needed for widening Fort and Kuakini streets with Jas. B. Castle was also approved.

The Superintendent was authorized to transfer to the Committee on Promotion and Publicity sufficient Government furniture to furnish the tourist reception quarters in the Alexander Young building.

A proposition was submitted to arrange a land exchange with the trustees of Oahu College. They want lands in Vineyard street and the Government wants in return land on the Ewa side of Miller street to widen that thoroughfare. This proposition was referred back to Mr. Cooper for a report on the lands in question.

RARE COIN TAKEN IN

A very rare coin in an excellent state of preservation was taken in at the box office of the Orpheum last Saturday night. It was tendered in payment for a dress circle seat for the play "In Sheep's Clothing" and was accepted with other coin for a two-bit piece. Gerald Ryan, the young man who deals out the tickets at the box office, is very much interested in old monies and has a very large collection at his home in the southern part of Australia. His collector's fever at once went up to somewhere about 173 2-3 degrees when he caught a glimpse of the silver piece and was most pleased to add a rare coin to his valuable possessions. The coin is an old Spanish piece about the size of a quarter of a dollar. On the obverse side is the ancient Spanish coat of arms encircled with the words "Carolus III-D. G." On the reverse is a quartered shield the opposite angles enclosing a castle and a lion, upright. The margin between this and the edge contains the Latin, "Hispaniarum Rex" and the date "1766." The edges of the piece were never milled. Its thickness is about half that of our quarter.

While this old Spanish piece may not be of any great intrinsic value it adds much to the value of a collection of coins and monies which are now out of date.

Visits a Disorderly House.

George Davis visited the notorious Magoon block during the dark hours of Sunday night, and his sensibilities must have been shocked for as a result of the visit Jack Mitchell, a colored man, was in the Police Court yesterday on the charge of profanity. A policeman accompanied the judge so that he was able to get around fairly well in the dark. The man arrested also had two bottles in his possession and admitted that he might have been a trifle out of sorts during the evening. After continuing the case Davis afterwards released and the colored man was released from custody.

A FAMOUS PAINTER OF OLD HAWAII

JULES TAVERNIER.

One of the paintings of Tavernier, an artist of more than local repute and now dead, is hanging in the art rooms of the Pacific Hardware Co. It is a moonlight view of Diamond Head and is the property of Mr. Monsarrat.

Among the older residents of Hawaii, Tavernier is well known and there are still many of his famous paintings in the city. A particularly fine canvas of the volcano was the property of the late Judge Widemann and is supposed to be still in the family.

Tavernier was a well-known member of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco and came to Hawaii with some of the leading artists of the club a good many years ago, among whom was Joe Strong, whose wife was a step-daughter to Robert Louis Stevenson. This was at the time that Joe Tilden was manager of the Hawaiian Hotel.

Tavernier with Hitchcock painted the best volcano pictures that Hawaii has known. Tavernier also painted many of the natural beauties of the islands and was very successful in his still life studies. His works commanded high prices. When he died a number of years ago, the Bohemian Club of San Francisco sent down a granite block, roughly hewn, which was placed over his grave close to the entrance of Nuuanu cemetery.
